Genocide: A Comprehensive Introduction is the most wide-ranging textbook on genocide yet published. Over 16 chapters and some 400 pages of text, Adam Jones explores the origins of genocide as a phenomenon and a concept, and traces its connections to colonialism & imperialism, war, and social revolution. A rich case-study section includes no fewer than fourteen case-studies of genocide in contemporary history, divided between primary cases and accompanying box-texts.

The volume then explores diverse social science perspectives on genocide, including those from psychology, sociology, anthropology, political science/international relations, and gender studies. A concluding section, “The Future of Genocide,” considers issues of historical memory and genocide denial; initiatives for justice, truth, and redress; and strategies of genocide prevention and intervention.

Written in clear and lively prose, liberally sprinkled with illustrations and personal testimonies from genocide survivors, Genocide: A Comprehensive Introduction is designed for course use at both the graduate and upper-undergraduate levels, as well as for general readers interested in learning about one of humanity’s most enduring blights. It is destined to become a core text of the new generation of genocide scholarship. An accompanying website (www.genocidetext.net) provides a broad selection of supplementary materials and Internet resources.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Adam Jones was born in Singapore in 1963, and grew up in England and Canada. He is Associate Research Fellow for 2005-07 in the Genocide Studies Program at Yale University.

Jones holds an M.A. from McGill University and a Ph.D. from the University of British Columbia, both in Political Science. He has edited two volumes on genocide: Gendercide and Genocide (Vanderbilt University Press, 2004) and Genocide, War Crimes & the West: History and Complicity (Zed Books, 2004). He has also published two books on the media and political transition. His scholarly articles have appeared in Review of International Studies, Ethnic and Racial Studies, Journal of Genocide Research, Journal of Human Rights, and other publications. He is cofounder and executive director of Gendercide Watch (www.gendercide.org), a web-based educational initiative that confronts gender-selective atrocities worldwide.

Email: adam@genocidetext.net
Personal website: http://adamjones.freeservers.com

---

“This is the best introductory text available to students of genocide studies. Written in clear, elegant prose and supported by a wealth of authoritative sources, Genocide: A Comprehensive Introduction is likely to become the gold standard by which all subsequent introductions to this enormously important subject will be measured.”

- Kenneth J. Campbell, University of Delaware; author of Genocide and the Global Village
TABLE OF CONTENTS

PART ONE: OVERVIEW

Introduction

Why study genocide? § What this book tries to do, and why § Acknowledgments

1. The Origins of Genocide

Genocide in prehistory, antiquity, and early modernity § Naming genocide: Raphael Lemkin § Defining genocide: The UN Convention § Bounding genocide: Comparative genocide studies § Contested cases § Is genocide ever justified?

2. Imperialism, War, and Social Revolution

Imperialism & colonialism § Colonial and Imperial Genocides § Imperial famine § The Congo “rubber terror” § The Japanese in East and Southeast Asia § The US in Indochina § The Soviets in Afghanistan § Genocide and War § World War One and the dawn of industrial death § World War Two and the “barbarization of warfare” § Social revolution and genocide § The nuclear revolution and “omnicide”

PART TWO: CASES

3. Genocides of Indigenous Peoples

Introduction § Colonialism and the discourse of extinction § The conquest of the Americas § Australia’s Aborigines and the Namibian Herero § Denying genocide, celebrating genocide § Complexities and caveats § Indigenous revival

3a. Box Text: Tibet under Chinese Rule

4. The Armenian Genocide

Introduction § Origins of the genocide § War, massacre, and deportation § The aftermath § The denial

4a. Box Text: The Anfal Campaign against Iraqi Kurds, 1988

5. Stalin’s Terror

The Bolsheviks seize power § Collectivization and famine § The Gulag § Stalin’schina: The purges, 1937-38 § The war years § The destruction of national minorities § Stalin and genocide

5a. Box Text: Chechnya

6. The Jewish Holocaust

Introduction § Origins § The turn to mass murder § Debating the Holocaust

6a. Box Text: The Nazis’ Other Victims

Prewar Persecutions and the “Euthanasia” Campaign § Communists and socialists § Asocials and undesirables § Homosexual men § Jehovah’s Witnesses and religious dissidents § The handicapped and infirm § Other Holocausts § The Slavs § Soviet prisoners-of-war § The Romani genocide (Porajmos) § Germans as victims

7. Cambodia and the Khmer Rouge

7a. Box Text: East Timor

8. Bosnia and Kosovo

Origins and onset § Gendercide and genocide in Bosnia § The international dimension § Kosovo, 1998-99 § Aftermaths

8a. Box Text: Bangladesh, 1971

9. Holocaust in Rwanda

Introduction: Horror and shame § Background to genocide § Genocidal frenzy § Aftermath

9a. Box Text: Congo and Darfur

PART THREE: SOCIAL SCIENCE PERSPECTIVES

10. Psychological Perspectives

Narcissism, greed, and fear § Genocide and humiliation § The psychology of perpetrators § The psychology of rescuers

11. The Sociology and Anthropology of Genocide

Introduction § Sociological Perspectives § The sociology of modernity § Ethnicity and ethnic conflict § “Market-dominant minorities” § Anthropological Perspectives

12. Political Science and International Relations

Further Information

Empirical investigations § The changing face of war § Democracy, war, and genocide/democide § Norms and prohibition regimes

13. Gendering Genocide

Gender vs. root-and-branch genocide § Women and genocide § Gendercultural institutions § Genocide and violence against homosexuals § Are men more genocidal than women? § A note on gendered propaganda

PART FOUR: THE FUTURE OF GENOCIDE

14. Memory, Forgetting, and Denial

The struggle over historical memory § The politics of forgetting § Genocide denial: Motives and strategies § Denial and free speech

15. Justice, Truth, and Redress

Leipzig, Constantinople, Nuremberg, Tokyo § The international criminal tribunals: Yugoslavia and Rwanda § National trials § Another kind of justice: Rwanda’s gacaca experiment § The Pinochet case § The International Criminal Court (ICC) § International citizens’ tribunals § Truth and reconciliation § The challenge of redress

16. Strategies of Prevention and Intervention

Warning signs § Humanitarian intervention § When is military intervention justified? § Ideologies and Individuals § The role of the honest witness § Ideologies, religious and secular § Conclusion

Further Information

www.genocidetext.net